

Fathia Mahmoud

---

Address:

hadayiq hulwan, Al Nakhl, Al
Safa Building, next to Salem
Electric

Phone:

01004633620
01155818114

Email:

fathia@windowslive.com

---

Languages

Arabic
Persian
English

Summary

Academic Instructor. Faculty Member. Specialization in ancient and modern Iranian history, including the ability to translate historical, journalistic and political books linguistically, explaining historical stages as ruling historical families among students, and the ability to deal with younger generations of university age, achieving the skill of interaction between students. Establishing and managing student research groups, participating in examination work from preparing the final exam paper for the semester and participating in control work, supervising committees and managing the examination stage from receiving the paper to the announcement of the students' results administratively with the work team

Skill Highlights

- Managing the academic phase
- Managing research projects
- Participating in student office rooms
- Participating in managing the testing phase
- Completing control tasks

Experience

- Specializing in Persian since 2005 at Helwan University.
- Attended research workshops at the Center for Oriental Studies at Cairo University.
- Prepared several research papers in the Oriental Languages Department at Ain Shams University and participated with professors in seminars on research plans.
- Worked on numerous translations at translation offices such as Al-Fateh Translation Office.
- Participated in numerous meetings with Iranian figures during my trip to Iran in 2012.

Education

Bachelor of Arts, Department of Oriental Languages,
Persian Language Section, 2007, Helwan University
Certifications

---

Master's degree in a critical and analytical historical study of the book "Yahya ibn Abd al-Latif al-Husayni al-Qazwini," a study and translation, 2014.

PhD degree in a historical study of Zionist organizations in Iran during the Pahlavi dynasty, 2023.